

2019 DISTRICT 9 DELEGATE CANDIDATES

Willow Park Neighborhoods

JENSINA BRENNAN - My family recently relocated to the Stapleton area and I would like to get more involved in our community. I was a member of our small homeowner's association back in Chicago and enjoyed the experience. I strongly feel that if you want a strong community, you need to be involved. In my professional world, I am proficient in project management and a point of contact for the organization. I could provide this same support for my community if I was to represent them as their community delegate. I would like to see a continued strong association, preserving the values of our homes and supporting a safe and family-oriented community.

ALEX HANNUM - I would like to be more involved in my community and understand how the neighborhood works.

HOPE MILLER - Hello! My family and I moved here from DC in 2014. We built one of the first houses in Willow Park East and I have loved seeing District 9 grow into another amazing little pocket of Stapleton. I've been an informal community organizer for as long as I can remember, including serving as a founding nonprofit board member of both the Stapleton Moms Club and Inspire Elementary PTO. I think community representation is very important – I pushed for our district to have a delegate representative during the early stages of the buildout. As your delegate, I would strive to be an unbiased liaison between you and the MCA. I believe in kindness and open communication, and welcome discussion on all topics, big or small. I feel very lucky to be raising my kids in this wonderful place and would enjoy the opportunity to advocate for what our community desires for our district, neighborhood and city. On most Friday nights, you'll find me outside in Harvest Park, dragging the "green man" out into the road, and enjoying a beverage with our neighbors as our kids run, bike and play – come join us! In my free time, I enjoy planning block parties and movie nights, fighting for more shade on the playgrounds, advocating for safer sidewalks and bike lanes so everyone can bike/walk more and drive less (especially our kiddos), and spending time outside in the sunshine.

AMY VOGEL - I would like to become more involved in my community! Through my years in economic development and hospitality marketing, I have learned a variety of skills that would benefit our neighborhood such as marketing, program management, stakeholder management, budget oversight and strategic planning. I have a strong understanding of the various stakeholders involved with communities and have a keen ability to balance conflicting priorities. With that being said, I feel I have a strong background and level of experience to provide a unique perspective to this group. On a personal note, I am a native upstate New Yorker, CU Boulder grad, three year resident of willow park east and former resident of Park Hill.

ERIC WOOD - I served as the community delegate from district 9 through 2018, however I came up a few votes short in the last election. When I found out that the person who succeeded me was resigning, I wanted to once again get involved in the community along with my neighborhood. This is a great opportunity to help give back to District 9. As an architect, I feel like I can use my experience and my educational background to assist in community decision making that would benefit the neighborhood and District 9. I'm looking forward to this opportunity again.
